Subject to the Fund Manager’s discretion, the Fund Manager intends to distribute a dividend on a monthly basis. 2. The dividend distributed in respect of the Income Class Units of the Sub-Fund may be paid effectively out of the capital attributable to the Income Class Units of the Sub-Fund (i.e. making the distribution from gross income while charging all or part of the fees and expenses attributable to the Income Class Units to the capital out of such units of the Sub-Fund), subject to the Fund Manager’s discretion, resulting in an increase in distributable income for the payment of dividend by the Income Class Units of the Sub-Fund and may result in an immediate reduction of the net asset value per unit of the Income Class Units of the Sub-Fund. Dividend for R6 Class Units may be paid out of capital. Such payment of dividend out of capital and/or effectively out of capital amounts to a return or withdrawal of part of an investor’s original investment in the R6 Class Units or

What is this product?

The Sub-Fund is a fund constituted in the form of a unit trust.

Objectives and Investment Strategy
Objective

To seek capital growth over the long term by investing in international equity markets.

Investment Strategy

The Sub-Fund will invest primarily in equity securities selected from investment markets around the world. The Sub-Fund may also hold cash and short-term investments.

The Sub-Fund may enter into financial futures contracts, financial option contracts and currency forward contracts for hedging purposes.

What are the key risks?

Investment involves risks. Please refer to the Explanatory Memorandum for details including the risk factors.

1. Investment risk — The Sub-Fund's investment portfolio may fall in value due to any of the key risk factors and therefore your investment in the Sub-Fund may suffer losses. There is no guarantee of the repayment of principal.
2. Market risks (including emerging market risks) — The Sub-Fund's investment in equity securities is subject to general market risks, whose value may fluctuate due to various factors, such as changes in investment sentiment, political and economic conditions and issuer-specific factors, which may affect the NAV of the Sub-Fund. Further, the Sub-Fund may invest in emerging markets which may involve increased risks and special considerations not typically associated with investment in more developed markets, such as liquidity risks, currency risks, political and economic uncertainties, legal and taxation risks, settlement risks, custody risk and the likelihood of a high degree of volatility.

3. Currency risk — Underlying investments of the Sub-Fund may be denominated in currencies other than the base currency of the Sub-Fund. Also, a class of units may be designated in a currency other than the base currency of the Sub-Fund. The NAV of the Sub-Fund may be affected unfavorably by fluctuations in the exchange rates between these currencies and the base currency and by changes in exchange rate controls.
4. Concentration risk — The Sub-Fund’s investment may be concentrated in a particular country / certain countries at a particular point of time. The value of the Sub-Fund whose investments are consequently concentrated may be more volatile than other sub-funds having a more diverse portfolio of investments. Additionally, the value of the Sub-Fund may be more susceptible to adverse economic, political, policy, foreign exchange, liquidity, tax, legal or regulatory event affecting the single country or regional markets.
5. Risks associated with investments/exposure to RMB currency — RMB is currently not freely convertible and is subject to exchange controls and restrictions. Non-RMB based investors are exposed to foreign exchange risk and there is no guarantee that the value of RMB against the investors’ base currencies (for example HKD) will not depreciate. Any depreciation of RMB could adversely affect the value of investor’s investment in the Sub-Fund. Although offshore RMB (CNH) and onshore RMB (CNY) are the same currency, they trade at different rates. Any divergence between CNH and CNY may adversely impact investors. Under exceptional circumstances, payment of realisation and/or distribution payment in RMB may be delayed due to the exchange controls and restrictions applicable to RMB.
6. Dividend paid out of capital and/or effectively out of capital — In respect of the Income Class Units, the Fund Manager may at its discretion pay dividend out of gross income while paying all or part of the fees and expenses attributable to the Income Class Units out of the capital of such units, resulting in an increase in distributable income for the payment of dividend in respect of the Income Class Units and therefore, the Sub-Fund may effectively pay dividend out of capital. In respect of R6 Class Units, the Fund Manager may pay dividends out of capital. The payment of dividends out of capital and/or effectively out of capital amounts to a return or withdrawal of part of a Unitholder’s original investment in the R6 Class Units or Income Class Units or from capital gains attributable to that original investment. Any distributions involving payment of dividend out of capital of the R6 Class Units or effectively out of the capital of the Income Class Units may result in an immediate reduction of its NAV per unit.

How has the Sub-Fund performed?

Past performance information is not indicative of future performance. Investors may not get back the full amount invested.

The computation basis of the performance is based on the calendar year end, NAV-to-NAV, with dividend reinvested.

These figures show by how much the Retail Class Units increased or decreased in value during the calendar year being shown. Performance data has been calculated in HKD including ongoing charges and excluding subscription fee and redemption fee you might have to pay.

Fund launch date: 2 July 2003
Retail Class Units launch date: 2 July 2003

Retail Class Units is selected as the most appropriate representative unit class as it has the longest track record.

Is there any guarantee?

The Sub-Fund does not have any guarantees. You may not get back the full amount of the money you invest.
